The Perry Cross Spinal Research Foundation's promise is to seek a cure for paralysis for all. It's about making the impossible, possible. It's our incredible community who are the driving force behind the ground-breaking research the Foundation is able to fund. It's staggering to think that in Australia, on average, one person is paralysed every day from a spinal cord injury.

This is one too many.

Right now, there is no cure for paralysis. But there's world-first discoveries being made, through ground-breaking research.

Your support will help us reach the next stage of our research in the search for a cure for paralysis.

Thank you for your consideration.
